

IN ADVANCE

The supplier who was approved in the system changed the terms and conditions and now required payment in advance for each order. Payment was secured and the tools could be delivered without compromising the production process.

MICRO TOOLS

In this case, the German supplier was already approved in the system, but changed the terms and conditions and now required payment in advance for each order. This was a very special type of micro tools that were technically proven and produced by only a few companies in the world and changing supplier would have been very difficult and time consuming. So we arranged payment within 24 hours and became the supplier of these tools without any change in terms between the end customer and the manufacturer.
